Visit of Mr. Bryan Puts End to Day's Business in the Gencral Assembly.

IMPROVEMENT OF CAPITOL

This Important Measure Under Consideration When Mr. Bryan Came-Shepherd Inquiry.

The visit of Hon. William Jenniugs Bryan to the Capitol yesterday and his speech before the General Assembly added variety and interest to the day's ndded variety and interest to the days session. There was very little legislation. The bill for the erlargement and repair of the Capitol was under consideration in the Senate, and that providing for the annaxation of adjacent territory to cities in the House, when Mr. Bryan to ellies in the House, when Mr. Bryan arrived, and a recess was taker; that he might be welcomed. No action was taken on either measure.

A number of bills were introduced in both branches, and the House adopted a resolution, offered by Mr. Griffith, calling upon the auditor for a statement covering the 'irregularities' of Joseph H. Shepherd while a clark in the auditor's offlies, and for information as to whether or not any legal proceedings had been instituted against the sureties of Shepherd.

The arrival of Hon. William J. Bryan, in response to an invitation by joint resolution to visit the State Capitol yesterday, cut short the consideration of the special order in the Senate, the Anderson bill appropriating $250,000 for the enlargement and improvement of the State Capitol

There were nearly thirty senators present when President Pro Tempore Henry T. Wickham called the body to order. It proceeded to business without delay.

The Senate concurred in a minor amendment to the Senate bill in relation to persent the proceeding of the processors and referred.

ment to the Senate bill in relation to per-emptory challenge of Jurors, and referred to committees twenty-one House bills from that body.

Mr. Mann, from the Committee for Privileges and Elections, reported to the Senate the recommendation of that com-mittee in the confessed election case of Keen vs. Turner, from the district composed of the counties of Francia and Floyd. The report is in favor the strting member, a Republican, and while exonerating Mr. Turner from any responsibility for the use and indugence in liquor by the voters at his home precinct, it condemns in strong terms such practices. The report appears in full

Mr. Burksdale, of Hallax, moved con-currence in the resolution.

Mr. Mellwaine cited the fact that the two houses were co-ordinate branches of the General Assembly and proposed to amend the joint resolution by providing for three members from each House to wait upon Mr. Bryan and convey to him notification of the action of the General Assembly. This was agreed to. derectors the student has been pro-noted on his standing (1) in the daily celtations, (2) in a monthly test (3) and a the final and intermediate examina-tions. Each of these three counted one-hird in the result. The change con-complates the reduction of the monthly est to an ordinary recitation, leaving inly two values that will be considered, amely, the daily recitations and the ex-minations. Assembly. This was agreed to.

Mr. Shackelford moved reference of the

Those of Europe and America.

The public lectures which the faculty of Richmond College have been giving during February will come to a close with a lecture by President F. W. Boatwright to-morrow evening at $15 o'clock. In these lectures topics of timely interest have been discussed, the professors giving in a popular way the results of the latest investigations by scholars in all parts of the world. The subject of President Boatwright's lecture will be "The Present Status of Education in Europe," and he will make a comparative study of educational systems, problems and ideals in Germany, France and England with those in America.

justifiable at this time. He defended the Capitol and antagonized any proposition to disturb the autonomy or the historic structure or to abandon the use of the historic halls of the Senate and House as proposed in the pending bill. The enlargement proposed would make of the tamous old structure a barn and two cattle sheds, he said, with fine sarcasm, in impressing what he regarded as the insufficiency of the appropriation for the purpose proposed. He made an ingenious appeal for the support of the out-of-town members of the Senate by declaring that the domand for the enlargement came from the people of Richmond and the press of Richmond. The building had been good enough, he declared, for years past and would be formany years to come. He quoted from the report of the Auditor, and declared that the State's finances would not justify the appropriation of forty or fifty thousand or oven a hundred thousand dollars, if necessary for the restoration and repute of the present building. He strenuously protested against the proposed plan of enlargement, and quoted figures as to the finances of the State in support of his proposition, rather than that before the Senate. Mr. Wickham spoke with great carnestness and with considerable spirit at times.

MR. ANDERSON TAKES ISSUE.

As soon as he had resumed his seat Mr. Anderson, patron of the bill, was recognized, and immediately took issue with the senator from Hanover. He first defended the bill against the size of Mr. Wickham, eitling the fact that the enlargement proposed was preelsely what the United States did in the enlargement of the national Capitol. He declared that the sum proposed would be adequate for the purpose, and would make the Capitol habitable, as Mr. Wickham, in his speech, had admitted it was not now habitable. Mr. Anderson recalled to the Senate a recent experience in a meeting of the Finance Committee, when one of the small committee rooms was so crowded that the chairman of that committee (Mr. Wickham) had fairly gasped for breath, and had asked to have a window opened, ever with a wintry temperature prevailing outside.

Mr. Anderson had Just entered into a MR. ANDERSON TAKES ISSUE.

CAPITOL IMPROVEMENT BILL.

At 12:30 P. M. the special order was laid before the Senate, it being the Anderson shill for the enlargement and repair of the State and Holt was laid before the Senate, it being the Anderson shill for the enlargement and repair of the State and Holt was laid before the Senate, it being the Anderson annexation bill. Mr. Bryan was introduced about 1:5 and spoke for perhaps fifteen minutes, during which the Finance Committee, arose and moved the postporement of the special order until next Tuesday, and spoke at some length in advocacy of his motion, or rather in general opposition to the proposition rembodiled in the bill. He contended that the State's financial condition was not such as to make such an appropriation.

THE SHEPHERD CASE.
One of the striking features of the session was a resolution by Mr. Griffith (Republican), of Russell, directing the State Auditor to furnish to the Legislature a statement of the embezzlements of Joseph H. Shepherd, late clerk in the Auditor's office, and also to inform the Legislature whicher or not any legal proceedings had ever been instituted against the securities, if any, of the convicted official.

official.

It was explained by Mr. Boaz, of the Finance Commuces, that at the time of the defaication the law did not require clerks in the Auditor's office to execute bonds, and that hence the State. In the case of Shepherd, had no recourse. Mr. Griffith insisted that the Legislature and the state in the case of Shepherd, had no recourse.
